Xplorer

A free public enquiry portal for a broad range of geographic and local government information about the Taranaki region

Taranaki Regional Xplorer

Taranaki Regional Xplorer provides free public access online to district and regional council information (especially for ratepayers).

- Rates and property information – search for a particular address or use the Property Identify tool to click on a property
- Taranaki Regional Council information – resource consents, land management plans, rainfall/river/wind data, significant wetlands and other data. Use the identify tool to get more details
- Underground services in your street – find your property then click the check box in the layers tab to view Water Services, Stormwater Services, and Sewer Services. Available only in Stratford and South Taranaki districts.

A unique example of cooperative public information delivery

A free public enquiry portal for a broad range of geographic and local government information about the Taranaki region

Taranaki Regional Xplorer is a collaborative project initiated by the Taranaki Regional Council and involves the Stratford and South Taranaki district councils.

Use Taranaki Regional Xplorer to view a wide variety of data, including aerial photography, land parcel boundaries, topography such as roads and rivers, resource consents and infrastructure services data.

Photographs of features of special interest have been included, as has resource consent information in some areas.

Taranaki Regional Xplorer is a tremendous resource for the community, which will be extended to include a large amount of additional information about the region, its attractions and opportunities.

There are numerous links to other related websites, such as www.rhodo.co.nz, which features the Taranaki Rhododendron & Garden Festival.
